

CHIEF EXECUTIVE

- Key leadership role
- National membership body

The Essential First Step.

Dial Before You Dig is a vital Australia-wide service that assists in damage prevention to underground infrastructure and provides protection for construction workers and the community. It serves to protect the assets of communications, gas, electricity, water and sewerage providers who are members of the five State-based DBYD associations that form the national entity, located in Melbourne.

Reporting to a national Board, this is a hands on role. You will implement strategic projects, build effective stakeholder engagement at all levels and provide leadership to staff in Victoria and interstate. This pivotal role will maximise the value proposition that DBYD provides, promote awareness of its services and increase usage to protect the public from danger, service disruption and costly damage.

Key areas of responsibility include strategy, communications, contract management, advocacy and operations. You will be a true diplomat who can bring demonstrated practical expertise to the role through your strengths in stakeholder management, strategic leadership and project delivery.
