

Do you want a career in the security industry?

Here at the NZ Security Association, we assist our security members by finding them suitable candidates to work within their organisations. They are urgently looking for candidates as there is a current need for security personnel during this time. They are looking for full time, part time and casual roles, candidates who may already have security experience or those who are new to the industry. As security is an essential service you will be required to work during the lock down period.

Please email expressions of interest to careers@nzsa.co.nz
