

Fundraising Manager

- Experienced, energised fundraising professional required
- See potential and make it reality
- Make a difference in 2019

Are you seeking to take your fundraising career to that next level? Or are you a seasoned professional looking to engage in a new challenge?

The purpose of this role is to manage and drive Victim Support's comprehensive fundraising programme. To use your expert skills in fundraising both strategically and tactically to assist in the delivery of reliable and sustainable income for Victim Support nationwide.

Responsibilities of this role will include:

- Managing specific fundraising projects and initiatives.
- Guiding the next phase of the fundraising strategy.
- Running the regular giving programme.
- Running direct mail, annual appeal and national lottery programmes.
- Monitoring and analysing all activities and programmes. Identifying areas of opportunity.
- Preparing and submitting major grant applications.
- Liaising with internal and external stakeholders.

The right person for this job can think strategically and bring new ideas, while thrive in the 'doing' and tactical delivery. Effective written and oral communication skills are a must with good attention to detail.

Proven capabilities in fundraising and experience with regular giving programmes would be of an advantage. However, people with a knowledge of fundraising and offering transferable skills from a sales, stakeholder engagement role would also be considered. Prior management experience is not essential. Critical will be a can do, team-player attitude and energy.

This role is full time, however there could be some flexibility in hours if required for the right person.

Applications will close at 12pm on Monday, 7 January 2019.
